Sophomore Sit-Down. A tradition rich in food, fun, family, and STARS.

"The dedication of this new Center sends a signal to the community about the very real scope and promise of local and global community involvement that will be fostered right here." Lacy King, mayor of Staunton and graduate of MBC's Adult Degree Program.

The Spence for Civic a Engageme

"I tell this story about my mother to illustrate that the outer limits of her world were the limits of her small hometown. The limits of your worlds are expanded by unimaginable proportions, and they continue to expand. The Spencer Center is an academic gift to all students." Dr. Samuel R. Spencer Jr., MBC president emeritus and Center namesake.

"We look forward to making the Center an active and key part of our lives here." Ashley Graves '08, Student Government Association President

"The world is flat and shrinking, and Mary Baldwin College, with this Center, is going to draw the world even closer to Staunton and the Shenandoah Valley." Del. Chris Saxman, R-Staunton.

"With global rhythms coursing the convergence of our inclusive student contingents from the four corners of our campus, we open this celebration of community. Today by our collective presence and united purpose, we visibly affirm our intention to live out purposeful lives in connection to other people driven by deep recognition of our interdependence with others."
President Pamela Fox

"Indeed, [the Spencer Center] is a place where the citizen sets free the student and the student refines her citizenship. It is also true that the promise of this space upon the hill grants to all a sacred call to hear and heed, to hear the cry of the world and serve its need ..." Dr. Edward Scott, interim vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college

Commencement 2008

Excerpts from the commencement address by Musimbi Kanyoro ...

This is a special moment, and I want to thank the President, Dr. Pamela Fox, for inviting me. It is awesome to have this great responsibility to speak to the very important people (VIPs) who will be graduating today. I salute families and friends, along with the Mary Baldwin College community of students, faculty, and staff. This is a day of joy and celebrations. Beautiful tables are waiting in homes and restaurants. They will be decorated with laughter and tears of joy and flowers, and there will be hugging and kissing. Memories will be captured and shared both over the miles and instantly.

I vividly remember my own undergraduate commencement at the University of Nairobi a zillion years ago. I was surrounded by family and friends and walked tall like a giraffe to receive my certificate. But I also remember my commencement from graduate school at the University of Texas, Austin, when distance and cost prevented my family from coming to witness my graduation.

Nevertheless, I still held my chin up and walked tall to the stage as a citizen of the world.

So today I want to recognize some among you who may be graduating without your loved ones beside you - be it that they are overseas or be it that they have gone before us, today is your day to be a giraffe. This is a special moment of responsibility for those of us who have come here to witness this graduation ceremony. We will be affirming success. Everybody who is graduating today has worked hard and has been declared by the professors of this college as "successful".

Relay For Life

Mary Baldwin College raised more than $16,000 for the American Cancer Society during its Relay For Life event March 15. Approximately 125 MBC students, faculty, staff, friends, and family members -- including more than 30 survivors -- cheered each other on through a rainy evening to raise awareness for the fight against cancer. The excitement of the event was so contagious that Carmen Paniagua '10 and Lucy Crews, catalog and serials librarian, cut a total of 24 inches from their hair for Locks of Love. Special recognition went to Matthew Gilliland, Samantha Adato '08, and Amanda Feinstein '09 for each raising more that $2,300 individually.

Psychology club

Pictures on this page are from a Psychology Social celebrating Civic and Global Engagement. Dr. Kibler's classes donated money and adopted three children over the past year. We also gave animals through Heifer International to promote a community's economy. During these parties, Dr. Kibler revealed who we adopted (age, name, country) and what animals we gave (amount of animals and country).

Also, at these parties, students who were in Dr. Kibler's classes give a short talk about their volunteer work around the community. Several students volunteered at Western State, Commonwealth Center for Children and Adolescents, hospice, volunteer emergency squads, crocheted blankets for low income families, tutored at local elementary schools, gathered teddy bears to give to children in hospitals, etc.

You've gone from sitting in your high chair with barbecue sauce on your face and dressing as a sweet little bunny for Halloween to someone with much better table manners who last went trick-or-treating as Athena, the goddess of heroic endeavors. What an amazing journey it's been watching you grow from childhood to college graduation.

Laura, you have been like a force of nature in all our lives since the day you were born, always on the move, always with something to say, and always directing the show. We are so proud of you. We always will be.

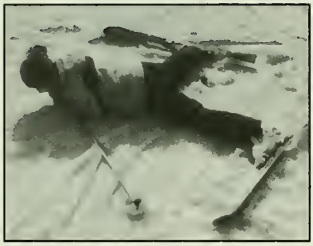
There is no need to reach for the stars. They are already within you, Lael. I am so proud of the quality of the work and research you have put into these last four years. It has defined your unique character and deep passion for excellence and shall continue on with you into your next journey. I am your number one fan…..team Lael! I Love you always and forever and no matter , CHE!

Laely bugs, since we were babies, we have been inseparable and in the past year I stepped away from you. No doubt it has been a challenge, but you have shown that you can stand on your own and spread your wings. Embrace this opportunity and jump and I will be there to fly with you. You are beautiful, intelligent and most importantly honest. Wild horses could not drag you away. So shine a light because I love you and believe in you. Love, Nena

Lael, we all knew you would achieve as much as you have in these few short years, but to estimate your future potential is above us all. Keep us guessing, on your way, straight to the top! Love, Bren



Hey Lael, Well done on becoming graduated to the next level! On your new plane, the not too distant future's gonna hold even more rewarding, worthwhile, and interesting challenges (perhaps you can sort us some gig tickets!). You' re a super gal, enjoy yourself! Congratulations! Love, Ben

My dearest Lael, You must always remember that you are special. But more importantly, you are special by virtue of God's gifts, which will keep you sweet and humble. You must remember, also, that everyone's goal is simply to be happy and the easiest way to be happy is to be pleasing to one's self. And you can't please yourself if you are not living up to your potential. By the same token honey, don' t ever be too hard on yourself. Your loving father, Dad

Soar with the eagles, explore the galaxies, set your goals high, expect excellence! You are abundantly blessed with gifts from God, and you have made them your passions. i remember years ago, you were so little then.
Sometimes,
i can't help but wish,
that you were small again.
i've cried when you've face heartaches,
and saw, that as you grew,
Nothing broke your Spirit,
instead it strengthened you.
i'm filled with mixed emotions,
as i hold back all the tears
and, with much pride remember,
Back so many years.
When i first held you in my arms,
if only i had known,
the years would feel like moments,
after you had grown.
you aren't a child,
though in my eyes,
you will forever and always be,

Emily Coxe Wirsing was born June 13, 1941 . She graduated from Mary Baldwin in May of 1963. On June 27, 1964 she married Timothy Kelly and together they had three children, Whitwell, Anna, and Caroline. In October of 1985 Emily passed away from leukemia . Emily is this year's "Voice From The Past." She exemplified leadership while at Mary Baldwin, participating in Cotillion Club, Canterbury Club, Campus Comments , Bluestocking, various class offices, and much more. After leaving Mary Baldwin she went on to become a noted artist in the Roanoke Valley, an active member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Salem, Virginia, and helped out frequently at North Cross School in Roanoke, which her children attended. She also came back to serve Mary Baldwin as Alumnae President. Even though she was taken from us too soon, her husband has kept her alive through annual scholarships at Mary Baldwin. The yearbook staff would like to thank Emily for everything that she did for Mary Baldwin and also her husband for keeping her memory alive.

Life is a Journey

Author Unknown

Birth is a beginning
and death a destination
And life is a journey:
From childhood to maturity
and youth to age;
From innocence to awareness
and ignorance to knowing;
From foolishness to desecration
and then perhaps to wisdom.
From weakness to strength or
from strength to weakness
and often back again;
From health to sickness
and we pray to health again.
From offense to forgiveness
from loneliness to love
from joy to gratitude
from pain to compassion
from grief to understanding
from fear to faith.
From defeat to defeat to defeat
until looking backwards or ahead
We see that victory lies not at some high point along the way
but in having made the journey
step by step
a sacred pilgrimage.
Birth is a beginning
and death a destination
And life is a journey;
A sacred journey to life everlasting.

It has been an amazing year as your editor-in-chief. I hope that you enjoy and cherish the memories that this edition of the Bluestocking holds. I would like to say thank you to Morgan Alberts Smith, without whom this yearbook would not be possible, also a thanks to the staff for their work!
